
The Necktie

A man intrinsic as the thought
If A then B and so on
Will tie the hours in a knot,
A self-born Laocoön,

And feel them tighten like a noose
The leisure they permit him.
What if a day like something loose
In silk should merely fit him?

—William Wilborn